CAR TURNS TURTLE

Newport Party Upset On Coventry Road Saturday Night

Roland Rogers, Edmond Richard and Maurice Clark had a narrow escape from serious injury Saturday night when the auto in which they were riding went over a bank on the Coventry road turning turtle and landing right side up.

The Ford car which was owned by A. C. Clark was badly wrecked. The top, wind shield, radiator and two wheels being smashed. The young men were going toward Coventry and when just past the residence on the farm known as the Charles Putney place, they met another car whose lights blinded the driver and in order to avoid a collision with the car which hogged the road the operator of the Ford was compelled to take the ditch and in returning to the road the forward wheel dropped into a hole at the end of a sluice and then jumped across the road over the embankment.

Clark received a cut on one ear and Richard a black eye and bruises on neck and body. That they escaped more serious injury was considered almost a miracle. Mrs. from the Lawson garage removed the wrecked car to the Clark home Monday.

As the car pitched over the bank the straps connecting the top to the wind shield broke allowing the top to fall back and no doubt it was the principal cause of the boys' from more serious accident as they were thrown clear from the car and some several feet away. Both watches of Richard and Clark were snapped from their person and at last reports the Clark watch had not been found. The Richard watch was found by persons visiting the scene. The ground about the wreckage is soft and covered with meadow grass and furnishes a good place to lose a watch.

Boys and Girls Win Prizes.

One of the matters of interest that came before the meeting of the executive committee of the Orleans County Farm Bureau held at the Federal building, June 30 was the adopting of the plans of other county Farm Bureaus in offering prizes for the best essays on certain subjects. The two subjects adopted at the meeting were: "Why Dad Joined the Farm Bureau?" and "What have we got out of Farm Bureau?"

The prizes that the Bureau offered were ten dollars in money divided as follows $5, $3 and 2. As a result of this proposition several letters came to the county club agent, M. R. Bacon and the three which won the prizes follow, the awards being granted in the order in which they are printed, $5 to the first $3 to the second and $2 to the third:

Essay 1

Dad joined the Farm Bureau because he thinks if farmers make a success of farming and marketing their products they must organize as do all other manufacturers. Even the boot blacks organize.

Not long ago farmers sold their produce for just what the dealers would pay for it.

They took their sugar to market, asked the dealer what he would pay and what they would have to pay for white sugar in return, having nothing to say about price on either.

With these facts existing it is not time for the farmer to organize and stand for their own rights and tell the dealers and consumers what they have got to have for their products.

Our dairy products are the largest produce we have. Even at that the milk, cream and butter dealers pay their own prices for them. Why not the farmer know what it costs to produce milk, cream, butter and their products, then demand a price to make a fair profit. But they cannot until they organize and hang together.

Dad says the first step towards success for the farmer is to join the Farm Bureau and become a member of what should be and what will be the largest organization in the world.

Why does the farmer need to go blind any longer when they are the largest producers in the world, they are producing the very products the people must have. They have the Farm Bureau to help improve their products and find better markets.

Why need the farmer toil sixteen hours a day to produce food at a low price for the city guy, who works only eight hours.

Dad says the farmers have got to organize and these are some of the reasons why he joined the Farm Bureau.

KENNETH M. STEVENS,
West Glover.

In studying my history at school, learning of the great wars which have taken place, the generals, the armies, the fighting of hundreds of men and their victories are the result of their efforts; it seems to me a good illustration of the Farm Bureau work.

It seems to be a great battle where numerous leaders and farmers already have entered the field, working with their shoulders at the gun, aiming for a glorious victory of "farm organization" as the only means of being on a firm and equal basis with other classes of industry already organized.

We all know that there is not another class of laborers, who put in such long hours with such a small margin of profit and that the welfare of the whole universe, depends so much upon the farmer. Then why shouldn't the farmer fight (if he must) for his just rights?

These battles referred to, were not won by their leaders and a few men only but by the united efforts and determination of many. So the farm organization never can be successfully won, unless the majority of farmers are willing to pull together with the aid of their competent leaders, with "Forward" for their marching order; so hoping to bring them off victorious.

That's why my dad joined the Farm Bureau believing he would reap benefit from it now, and hoping to see the day, in the near future when the farmers in general would cooperate, with hearty enthusiasm, to where they can all receive larger and better returns for their labor.

The Farm Bureau has set the farmers to thinking and making a better product for a better price, which is only in its infancy.

ANNA L. MERRIAM,
West Glover.

Essay 3

The Farm Bureau had been started in Orleans County but a short time when Dad heard about it. It was one of the first organizations of any kind to help the farmer. It was meeting opposition in many places, farmers didn't think that such an organization could be started and give such good results in the beginning. He also heard about the progress it had made in other parts of the country and how much it had helped the farmers to organize so that the farmer could sell his products from producer to consumer direct and eliminate the middleman. He also heard about how it helped the farmer in getting feed, phosphate, seed and many other articles used on the farm at a much less cost than he could get them elsewhere, they were also eliminating the middleman in the transactions. Then he says that a co-operation that can do all this in the beginning is worth having. He also heard about the club work and the progress it had made in giving demonstrations that helped the farmer to see what he hadn't seen before.

There is so much competition between the farmers that a co-operation of this kind would do them more good than they could appreciate in establishing a standard price and a good market for his products. This would eliminate one of his greatest enemies, Every progressive occupation in the country is organized and not let other people do their business for them in telling them how much their products are worth.

RALPH B. MORRILL,
Island Pond.

Extension Worker Here

The Boys and Girls Clubs of Orleans County are to have the trip to the State Extension workers this week. Miss Fuller is the clothing and household specialist of the Vermont State Extension service of Burlington.

She arrived in Newport Monday and in company with M. R. Bacon club agent went to Brownington village where they met the poultry, potato and cooking demonstration teams of the Wide Awake Garden Club. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. R. Dutton.

This Tuesday forenoon they held a meeting with the clothing demonstration team of the Glover Rainbow Sewing Club with Mrs. A. D. Merriam at Glover. This afternoon they went to Greensboro where at the Grange Hall they will meet the clothing and sewing demonstration teams of the modern Priscilla and Hazen Road Clubs. In the evening at the same place they have a meeting with the poultry and potato seed testing team of Caspian Lake Club.

On Wednesday Miss Fuller will spend the day in Newport with a meeting in the morning with the Memphremagog Poultry and Garden demonstration team at the Farm Bureau office, after which she will attend the picnic and meet the members of the "We-Kan-Eat-It" cooking club.

Thursday calls for a meeting at Brownington Center with the cooking demonstration team of the Busy Bee cooking club, the meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. A. Robinson.

In the evening of Thursday at the home of Mrs. Edward Eastman, West Charleston, the leaders will meet the canning demonstration team of the Willing Workers Home makers club.

Friday afternoon will close the work for Miss Fuller with a meeting with the cooking demonstration team of the Newport Club Girls which will be held at the home of Mrs. Ruth D. Smith 46 Young St. In the evening they will attend the West Glover Calf Club show. Following the picnic and the program Miss Fuller will return to Burlington Saturday morning.

Mr. Sharon of Canada is stopping with Mrs. Harriet Preston at San Souci.

O. E. Lyon attended the funeral of Ernest Richardson at Sutton Sunday.

Mrs. Eva Hudon of Newport is visiting at the home of her cousin, Chas. Tatro.

Miss Hattie C. Kortan of Chicago is spending a two weeks' vacation at the hotel.

Mrs. Hattie Myers and Miss Dorothy Emerson went to Springfield Friday for a short stay.

Mrs. Bowley of Newport and Miss Cora Quint of Manchester, N. H., are visiting at J. W. Hyde's.

John Spencer and family of Newport visited his invalid mother, Mrs. Ann Spencer, the past week.

The Sunday school will hold a picnic Tuesday, August 15th, at the north end of the lake.

James F. Bacon, Robert F. Needham, Gerald L. Grant and Lawrence M. Turner of Boston are at the hotel for a 10-day stay.

W. A. Morey and family, who have spent their summers here for many years, arrived Thursday and are occupying Mrs. Myers' cottage.

Next Sunday will be Songadevin Sunday at the church. The morning service at 11 o'clock will be attended by the staff and young ladies of the camp. Prof. Clarence W. Dunham of Boston will preach. All are cordially invited.

The sale at the church Friday was a complete success. The Ladies' Aid society realized over $100 from it. The address by Rev. Hutchinson and solos by Mrs. Dunham, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Dunham, was very much appreciated. The sale was carried on with a straight-forward motive with nothing that was questionable about it, which was the secret of the success. The ladies of Westmore heartily extend thanks to the people who patronized it.

Recent guests at the New Willoughby Hotel were Dr. and Mrs. Joseph McFarland, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Seeley, Mr. and Mrs. Verne Foogie of Belleville, N. J.; James Bogan and family of Quincy, Mass.; Miss Rose Lucia, Miss C. M. Griswold of Montpelier, Vt.; C. W. Batchelder, Boston; Mrs. H. A. Grant and chauffeur, Tarrytown, N. Y.; Miss Edith H. Underwood, Miss Underwood and Miss Gove of Boston, Mrs. Daniel Pelton, Staten Island, N. Y.; Wm. R. Driver, Boston, general manager, and L. W. Whitney, general superintendent of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Study Taxation.

The Vermont Farm Bureau Federation is making a comprehensive study of the tax situation in Vermont. The committee appointed by the state executive committee for this purpose consists of E. B. Cornwall of Middlebury, president of the state federation; J. A. Leach, Pawlet, chairman of the State Federation's Legislative Department, and C. W. Fitch, East Montpelier, president of the Washington County Farm Bureau.

According to the State Federation officials this investigation is being started without prejudice or any pet hobby, and is simply an honest effort to study the situation.

Taxation is an intricate and technical subject. The farmers organization feels that the farmers and the general public know too little about the subject. Every effort will be made to study it in a comprehensive way.

Mr. H. C. McKenzie of Walton, N. Y., arrived in Burlington June 19, to help the committee. Mr. McKenzie is a tax expert of national reputation. He is the only farmer representative on the National Industrial Conference Board. Mr. McKenzie is the author of the tax policy of the American farm Bureau Federation and the Agricultural Bloc.

Mr. McKenzie and members of the committee spent a week in conferences with state officials, bankers, and men prominent in tax affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Bisbee are taking their daughter, Faye, to Camp Hochelaga today where she will spend three weeks before returning to her school at Burlington.
